

About: Gierlinger

At the base of all the brands and products produced by Gierlinger Holding lies the commitment to comply with a maximum level of quality. This involves the entire process, starting with the raw materials, continuing with the ingredients and the processing phase and finishing with packaging. The market for these products is basically represented by all of Europe. This guarantees the delivery of the best ingredients in the areas that best meet the necessary conditions for this purpose. To us, quality also means providing the consumer with the desired quantities, making available the most practical packaging solutions and offering a unique taste experience. This is why we use the most natural ingredients and we avoid using flavor enhancers and preservatives. All of our goods are vacuum packed or frozen.
